

wait
wait...
don't tell me!

- This Week's Show ▶
- Daily Quiz ▶
- Past Shows ▶
- About the Show ▶
- About the Panelists ▶
- Broadcast Schedule ▶
- Podcasts ▶
- Contact Us ▶

- ▶ Listen to this week's show
- ▶ Download the podcast

Support for NPR is provided by:

How tomorrow moves

CSX trains can move
one ton of freight
436 miles on a single gallon of fuel.

Learn more

Become an NPR Sponsor

Wait Wait, Don't Tell Me! Daily News Quiz

The online version of the oddly informative weekly radio show

May 21, 2009

Ah, technology. Will the wonders never cease? A new Internet service allows people to exchange what online?

- ▶ DNA information
- ▶ Marital vows
- ▶ Virtual martinis
- ▶ Actual martinis

★ You got it! The answer is... ★

Actual martinis

Give Real, a Web site and social networking application available via Facebook, allows you to buy a drink -- an actual, real-world drink -- for a friend, even if you're in a different bar. Or city. Or state. Well, kinda-sorta. What you're actually doing is sending a virtual gift card via e-mail. Your friend pays for the martini with his or her own credit card, then receives a credit within a few days. The twist (heh) is that you can do it all via your smart phone or other mobile device.

One nice feature on the application: If you're sent three drinks or more in an evening, your computer at home automatically prints out an excuse note for work the next day and, somehow, two Alka-Seltzers.

Play previous quiz ▶▶